

Lawrence
Klepinger

The Sovereign Individual™

008 14 FEB 2020

A Quick Happy Valentines Day With a Couple of Ideas to Consider

Preface: As noted in our last Newsletter, we are going to try something different by sending the PDF file to readers so they can download it themselves.

We have gotten a number of people asking where their Newsletters are, and some even saying that they are going directly into their Junk File.

As many readers know, we here at LawrenceKlepinger.com decided to try and make an impact by establishing our own “Newsletter” because we were ostracized by Facebook and other Social Media Outlets, for our Conservative Outlook and Political Commentary.

We decided to try and circumvent this by sending a PDF, as an attachment, hoping that this will get through the biased screening process of emails by Google's Left-leaning Censors.

Our staff is now aware that certain "red flag" words set off the Censors - such as: Conservative, Donald Trump, Republican, GOP, etc.

You get the idea.

Here is hoping that this Newsletter will make it to your Inbox in fine fashion

On with the Show!

WHY HAVE THERE BEEN SO MANY DEMOCRATIC CANDIDATES?

As of late, a lot of people have been wondering what the reason is for so many Democratic Candidates in 2020.

There is one obvious reason and it might surprise you.

Many people know that I ran for United States Congress in 2004, in the Second Congressional District, in the State of Washington.

What a lot of readers are unaware of is that I refused to take one cent in campaign contributions.

It was something that I have always wanted to do - and it almost “paid” off - losing in the primary by approximately 4% of the GOP votes cast.

I wanted to prove that a person could win without taking any money whatsoever by running an honest and open campaign. It almost worked.

POLITICAL PROFESSIONAL LOSERS

Why am I saying all this? The reason is that every candidate that takes campaign contributions, and loses, is not required to give back any of the donations to their contributors.

In other words, they POCKET all that money - if they LOSE.

I wanted no part of that kind of political chicanery, thus I took no money whatsoever during my campaign.

However, the Democrats who ran - and those still running in this current 2020 Presidential Campaign - are fully aware that they are milking the gullible public for all it is worth.

I encountered these same types of Political Professional Losers during my campaign - in both parties.

It is a gimmick, that most Americans are not even remotely aware of.

Look at it this way. You get yourself a small group of people, set up a campaign, take campaign contributions, and then lose - on purpose - and no one is the wiser.

So this year, the Democrats saw an opening, took advantage of the immense hatred of Donald Trump, started their own campaigns - some of them raking in millions in campaign contributions - then folded up their tent and laughed all the way to the bank.

They knew, from the get-go, that they would never win, but they put up a good show and pretended to be so compassionate and concerned. The only thing they were concerned about was their own personal bank accounts.

Are you starting to get the picture of how this works?

MY SOLUTION

If we really want to stop this form of legal banditry, I would suggest that all candidates must be required to keep a record of their campaign contributions, names and addresses, and how much money was donated to a particular candidate.

The winner gets to keep all the campaign contributions - but the losers must be required to give back any money that is left over to the donors who contributed to the campaign. Of course, if there is no money left, then no problem.

However, if there are any remaining funds, then the money could be given back on a percentage basis to the donors.

Easy to do - and We the People - are no longer being fleeced by these Political Professional Losers.

AN INTERESTING CONVERSATION

During my campaign, I was in attendance with my wife, at a dinner conference and presentation. While sitting at the table, to which I was assigned, I noticed a man seated to my left. He was immaculately dressed, gold French cuffs, exquisitely tailored suit, complete with an expensive looking watch and diamond ring.

He looked at me, with a somewhat disdainful expression, and asked, “And what are some of your policies that you are running on?”

I said that I was running on a number of concepts and he wanted to know a few of them.

I told him that I believed very strongly on term limits. I said if the President is limited to only two terms, then I thought it would only be fair, for Congressmen and Senators, to also be limited in their time in office.

He was aghast, stared at me with indignant condemnation and said, “What do you want to do, ruin it for all of us?” I will remember those exact words until the day I die.

That Washington State Senator turned his back and spoke not another word to me for the rest of the evening.

A funny side note to the story. His wife, a piggish looking woman with too much lipstick, pulled out her Emory board - during dinner - and began filing her fingernails at the table!

White Trash abounds at all levels of life.

THE SETUP - AS I SEE IT

The Democrats, who remain in the running, are soaking up as much money as they possibly can. It looks like a Brokered Convention is now a foregone conclusion.

“Mayor Pete” will never get the nomination. Nor will Warren or Sanders.

That leaves Michael Bloomberg.

But wait! He is a multi-billionaire. How can the Democrats actually let him come in and BUY the Democratic Presidential Nomination? It simply will not happen. The Bernie “Bros” will not allow this to take place. Bernie Sanders got screwed once in 2016. They don't intend to let it happen again.

So, if nobody gets enough delegate votes to secure the nomination, what then?

I know this will sound like a broken record - and I promise not to bring it up again - but look for someone (who has remained conspicuously silent this whole time) to ride in and save the Democrats from total self-destruction.

And who will that person be?

Yes, my friends, Michelle Obama - to the rescue.

With Barack Obama giving her advice from behind the curtain, coupled with the massive amount of goodwill that they both still possess, it is highly probable that this scenario is being planned out as I write. With the backing that they still have, Soros money included, and with all the international admirers, she would be a very formidable candidate indeed.

She is a person of “color.”

She is a woman.

She is a past First Lady - for eight years.

And she has one of the most well-liked, past Presidents - as her political advisor. And, believe me, Barack Obama would be out on the trail for Michelle, everyday until election time.

And the way the Mass Media plays it for the Democrats, they could manage it so that Michelle Obama would never have to debate President Donald Trump.

All Barack and Michelle would have to do is simply campaign - right into November 3, 2020.

There is no law that says the Presidential Candidates must debate.

THE ICING ON THE CAKE

If Michelle Obama actually wins, all of the Democratic candidates who agree to “step aside” for Michelle, will be in for political favors after she is elected.

Now just imagine, Mayor “Pete” as Secretary of State.

Bernie Sanders as Secretary of the Treasury.

Elizabeth Warren as the Fed Chairperson.

I know, I have said it before, regarding Michelle Obama, and I apologize for bringing this up again.

But can anyone else come up with a better blueprint for the outcome of the Democratic National Convention?

HAPPY VALENTINES DAY!

That is it for now.

Take care, stay safe and keep thinking positive.

Until next time, Sayonara from Kobe, Japan!

Lawrence Klepinger